BRIEF HISTORICAL SKETCH.

The history of a University becomes not only interesting, but also instructive, when, after an existence of a century, its record becomes a chronicle of important events, and its list of Alumni contains the names of men who have occupied some of the most prominent positions in their respective professions, and who have also been honored at home and abroad for scientific achievements and valuable discoveries.

The period directly following the great struggle for liberty in this country was distinguished by the organization of professional schools in Medicine, Law and Theology. It was during such a period that the University of Maryland can trace its origin.

Since St. John's College has been affiliated with the University of Maryland there is a lineage which goes back much further than a century, as St. John's College was founded in 1739, it being the outgrowth from King Williams College, founded in 1696, so that through its connections, the University of Maryland reaches back to almost the earliest period of American history.

The idea of establishing a Medical School in Maryland originated with that eminent physician, Dr. John Beale Davidge, as early as 1796, who also succeeded in interesting in such an enterprise the equally eminent Dr. Nathaniel Potter, and other prominent men. Courses of Medical Lectures were annually delivered until 1807, when the Board of Regents and the Faculty secured a charter from the Legislature of the State of Maryland. In 1812 the present University Building, in imitation of the Pantheon at Rome, was begun, and the ensuing Session was held in the partially completed building. In the same year the Legislature of Maryland passed an act authorizing the Medical School to connect and annex to itself three other schools—Law, Divinity and Arts and Sciences, thus constituting by name and title the University of Maryland.

The first Provost of the University was the Hon. Robert Smith, who had occupied the position of Secretary of State of the United States. The second Provost was the Right Rev. James Kemp, D. D., who conferred the Honorary Degree of LL. D. upon Lafayette in the University Building, October 24, 1824, during the last visit of that illustrious Frenchman to this country. The illustrious Chief, Justice Roger B. Taney, Dr. Ashton Alexander and John P. Kennedy, the latter having a high reputation in the literary world, followed as Provosts until 1870.

The Honorable Severn Teackle Wallis, LL. D., one of the most intellectual men of his day and a distinguished jurist, occupied the position of Provost from 1870 until his death in 1894.

The present Provost, Bernard Carter, LL. D., is one of the most eminent members of the legal profession in this country.

The University Hospital, erected in 1823, was succeeded in 1896 by the present large and handsome structure, which, in accommodations, equipment and appearance, will compare favorably with any other in this country.

The Law Department, which occupies a separate building on the University grounds, was chartered in 1823, and among its Faculty and Alumni are many of the most able jurists of the State of Maryland.

In 1882 the Legislature of Maryland chartered the Dental School as one of the Departments of the University. The first Dental Building was erected during that year, and no less than four additions were made to it before it was torn down to erect the present new building in 1903. The first session of the Dental Department was held in 1882, with over sixty students; the latter classes have since numbered hundreds. In 1821 and 1822 the first dental lectures in America were delivered in the University of Maryland, and in 1835 a regular course of dental lectures was delivered in this University by Dr. Horace H. Hayden, who was also the first dental practitioner registered to practice his profession in the United States, and was afterward associated with Dr. Chapin A. Harris in organizing the first Dental College in the world. The University of Maryland was, therefore, the first to give instructions in Dentistry.

The Maryland College of Pharmacy was established in 1841 and was affiliated with the University of Maryland in 1893, as the Department of Pharmacy. This School of Pharmacy is one of the most efficient and successful in this country.

Announcement.

THE TWENTY-SEVENTH REGULAR OR WINTER COURSE OF INSTRUCTION IN THE UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND DENTAL DEPARTMENT will begin on Thursday, October 1st, 1908, and continue for seven months, irrespective of vacations. The ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT will be held at the close of the regular session. During the session there will be a vacation from the 24th of December to the 2nd of January. The class Examinations are held in January and April of each year.

The Spring and Summer Course will begin at the close of the Winter Session and continue until the opening of the Regular Session.

In presenting the Annual Announcement of the Dental Department of the University of Maryland for the Collegiate year 1908-1909, the Faculty are gratified to be able to state that their efforts to provide a thorough and practical course of instruction for dental students have received the approval of the best men in the dental profession, and been highly appreciated by those in attendance on the lectures, clinics and demonstrations of the course. The energetic efforts made to secure completeness in every department of this school have resulted in a prosperity which is truly gratifying, and which affords indisputable evidence that the methods of instruction adopted have received the sanction of the profession and accomplished the results anticipated in thoroughly instructing the student in all that pertains to the science and art of dentistry.

The hundreds of graduates of this College of Dentistry are now located in almost every part of the civilized world, and by their ability have established a high reputation for themselves, and also for their Alma Mater.

The instruction in the University of Maryland Dental Department embraces a graded course of three sessions, and includes all subjects which comprise the theory and practice of Dental Surgery.

Practical Infirmary and Laboratory operations are combined with theory as taught in didactic lectures and clinics, and hence require personal contact with patients. The Infirmary practice of this School will compare favorably with that of any other dental college in this country.

The curriculum proper is arranged strictly with a view to prepare students for dental practice, and the facilities for practice, as well as for theoretical instruction, are ample.

Connected with, and the students enjoying all the advantages of one of the oldest Universities in this country, the Faculty of this Dental Department can offer to its matriculates such a thorough, systematic and practical dental education as the present advanced science and art of dentistry demands.

The rapid advance of the art and science of dental surgery, and the recognition of it by the leading Medical Associations as a specialty of Medicine, as well as the desire of every reputable dental practitioner to have it accepted as such, renders it necessary to increase the facilities by which dental students can acquire not only a thorough knowledge of the profession of their choice, but also a knowledge of the collateral sciences. By placing dental surgery, as connected with oral surgery, in a position where it is accepted as a department of medicine, its status is exalted, a larger number of intellectual men enter its ranks and a new impetus to thought and investigation is thereby created.

The instruction in both Operative and Prosthetic Dentistry is as thorough as it is possible to make it, and embraces everything pertaining to dental art. The advantages which the surgical clinics, both general and oral, (to which the dental students are admitted, as indeed to all the lectures of the University) afford, cannot be overestimated. Annually an attendance of many thousand Patients in the Out-Patient Department, in addition to the Ward patients, are treated in the large University Hospital, which assists in furnishing an abundance of material for the Dental Infirmary and Laboratory practice.

THE NEW DENTAL BUILDING, completed in 1904, is situated on an elevated site on the N. E. corner of Lombard and Greene streets, and is especially convenient in reach from all lines of travel, both general and city. It is lighted by both electricity and gas, and all its rooms are easily accessible. This building is heated by steam, and no expense has been spared in its equipment. It contains a large DENTAL INFIRMARY or OPERATING ROOM (100-33) lighted from the North, West, South and East, and is furnished with a full complement of Wilkerson Operating Chairs, all having an unobstructed light; also, an additional DENTAL LECTURE HALL, with elevated seats. Also, the DENTAL MUSEUM, CLINIC ROOMS, EXTRACTING ROOM, IMPRESSION ROOM, RECEPTION ROOMS, ASSEMBLY and READING ROOM, TECHNIC ROOM, TOILET ROOMS, Patients' and Students' private Rooms, Halls, and Stairways. Also, separate SENIOR, JUNIOR and FRESHMEN LABORATORIES, PATHOLOGICAL, HISTOLOGICAL, BACTERIOLOGICAL and CHEMICAL LABORATORIES and the office of the DEAN. Private lockers and drawers secure the safety of the instruments, books and clothing of the students. The LECTURE HALLS in the University Building are capable of accommodating hundreds of students, being large and well lighted.

The large and interesting DENTAL MUSEUM of the University contains many specimens of peculiar interest to dental students, and compares favorably, on account of the large donations of valuable dental, pathological and other specimens received from this and foreign countries, with that of any other dental institution.

Working Chemical, Pathological and Histological, Physiological and Bacteriological Laboratories, for the instruction of students during and between sessions, are conducted under the immediate supervision of the Professors of those chairs.

Adjacent to the Dental Infirmary and Laboratory Building and separated from it only by the width of a street, is the extensive and modern University Hospital, in which are daily held the surgical and other clinics, affording the dental student opportunities of witnessing every variety of general and oral surgical operations, as it is one of the largest institutions for the care of the sick in the city of Baltimore; and the trained nurses, to whom are confided the domestic management of the institution, are everywhere favorably known as tender and skillful.

The Professors of the Faculty of Physic are connected with a number of Charity Hospitals, the inmates of which also add to the number of dental patients. All dental patients are operated on by the students under the careful supervision of the Professors and Demonstrators, and the expenses attending such operations are borne by the University. The benefits of such a large Infirmary and Laboratory practice as this institution affords to the dental student cannot be overestimated, and the sources from which the Dental Department of the University of Maryland obtains an ample supply of dental patients are so numerous and well assured that the facilities for the acquirement of practical skill in this institution cannot be surpassed.

The Dental Infirmary and Laboratories are open daily (except Sundays) during the entire year for the reception of patients, and THE PRACTICE OF DENTAL STUDENTS has increased to such an extent that all in attendance during the regular and summer sessions have an abundance of practical work in both operative and prosthetic dentistry. The means of practical instruction have already assumed such large proportions that the supply has been beyond the needs of the large classes in attendance, and during the past sessions it has often been necessary to turn away patients. The exceedingly large number of patients who visit the Infirmary to have teeth extracted affords every student ample opportunities for such practice. Special days each week of the sessions are devoted to instruction and lectures in Crown-and-Bridge-work, Plastic, Metal, Continuous Gum, Metallo-Plastic, Porcelain and Aluminum work.

Course of Study.

Dental Science, Oral Surgery, Dental Prosthesis.

PROF. FERDINAND F. J. S. GORGAS, M. D., D. D. S.

The course of instruction from this Chair will include the histology of the dental organs, bacteriology, and all the details connected with the etiology, pathology and treatment of the morbid conditions, and structural changes of the teeth, alveolar processes, etc., particularly the special pathology, diagnosis and treatment of all dental diseases, and the local effects upon the dental organs of general constitutional and hereditary disease; the local and constitutional effects of the eruption of the teeth, the special application of all medical agents employed in dental practice. Also, all that pertains to Dental Prosthesis, such as the preparation and treatment of the mouth for artificial dentures; the construction of artificial dentures on the different bases in use, such as vulcanite, celluloid, gold work and continuous gum work, etc., embracing the entire procedure, from taking the impression to the completion of the case, and its proper adjustment to the mouth. Also, the properties, alloys and dental uses of the various metals used in the laboratory will be fully described in daily lectures. In conjunction with the lectures, complete and thorough instructions in all forms of metal and combination work, Crown-and-Bridge-work, Continuous Gum, Porcelain and Plastic work will be given in the laboratory practice by competent instructors. Special lectures, as well as demonstrations in Crown-and-Bridge work, Porcelain-work, and the correction of the irregularities of the teeth are delivered each week of the session.

OPERATIVE DENTISTRY.

PROF. JAMES H. HARRIS, M.D., D.D.S.

The course from this Chair will comprise a thorough, practical instruction in all dental operations such as filling, extracting, pivoting and regulating the teeth; the filling of pulp canals; the treatment of alveolar abscess, diseased pulps, etc., etc. All proper methods for performing operations on the teeth and tissues involved will be demonstrated at regular clinics. The various forms and qualities of gold and other metals will be carefully considered, and the KIND BEST SUITED for each particular case thoroughly explained and PRACTICALLY DEMONSTRATED in operations known to the profession. The advantages and disadvantages of each particular form of gold will be carefully scrutinized. The methods of manipulating cohesive and non-cohesive, or soft, gold foils will be carefully taught, as a knowledge of the uses of both forms is absolutely essential to a complete dental education. All plastic materials for filling teeth such as amalgam, cements, etc., and the mode of manipulation will receive careful attention.

Tests for defects in the plastic materials will be shown, and the student taught how to make such tests. In short, nothing will be left undone to familiarize the class with all known methods of operating and to impress upon the mind of each the best and most practical system of performing operations upon the teeth. At regular clinics every instrument will be shown and its use thoroughly demonstrated, and all new appliances will receive careful attention.

The Professor of this Chair will deliver a regular course of lectures on operative dentistry, in addition to giving special clinics at stated times for practical instruction.

CHEMISTRY AND METALLURGY.

PROF. R. DORSEY COALE, Ph. D.

The aim of this course is to present to the student the most important facts and principles of Modern Chemistry in a plain but precise and scientific form. Special attention will be given to the mode of preparation, properties, etc., of the metals, alloys and the various compounds used in dental practice.

The course of lectures will be fully illustrated by experiments, for which purpose the department is well supplied with apparatus.

The Chemical, Histological, Bacteriological and other Laboratories of this department, open daily, offer excellent facilities to students desiring to take special courses in practical chemical manipulation and pathology.

ORAL SURGERY.

PROF. RANDOLPH WINSLOW, M.D.

Surgery is an eminently practical branch, and as such is taught. Didactic lectures are illustrated by diagrams, casts, color drawings and a large collection of specimens. The University Hospital, as well as the Out-Door Department, supplies a varied clinic, so that the direct application of the principles of Surgery can be made in the immediate presence of the student, to his great advantage.

Every condition of oral and face disease is studied and treated, and every opportunity afforded the dental student to qualify himself in this important course of study, and advantages are presented which only dental schools directly connected with medical departments can command for their students.

ANATOMY.

PROF. J. HOLMES SMITH, M. D.

Anatomy will be taught in the most practical manner, not only by didactic lectures in the anatomical theatre, but by class demonstrations of osteology and syndesmology, under the supervision of an Associate Professor of Anatomy. The lectures on this fundamental branch of medicine and dental science will be amply illustrated with preparations, models, plates, drawings and dissected cadaver. Special reference will be made to the anatomy, microscopical and comparative of the jaws, teeth, salivary glands and other organs and tissues, contained within or accessory to the oral cavity.

PHYSIOLOGY.

PROF. JOHN HEMMETER, M. D., Ph. D., LL. D.

The instruction in this department is graded, and consists of lectures, conferences, demonstrations upon living animals, and written exercises which are handed in by the student once every month. The Professor gives a number of questions selected in such a way that the proper answering of them requires that the student shall not only have paid close attention to the lectures and demonstrations, but must read up very carefully in his text book at home. These exercises are corrected by the Professor; the errors are discussed in the classroom, when they are returned to the student.

There are really two courses in Physiology; an elementary course for the first year students, and an advanced course for the second year students. When the Physiologic Laboratory is completed it is hoped that the instruction will consist largely of experiments and observations made by the student himself. Students will be trained not to rest upon authority, but upon personal observation and individual analysis of the phenomena of life.

Part of the lectures in Elementary Physiology and the conferences are conducted by Dr. Charles C. Conser.

THERAPEUTICS AND MATERIA MEDICA.

PROF. TIMOTHY O. HEATWOLE, M. D., D.D.S.

In this department special attention is bestowed upon the application of such remedies as are employed in the treatment of pathological conditions of the teeth and the oral cavity, together with their composition and physiological action. The nature, use and administration of anaesthetic agents both local and general, will also receive special attention both theoretically and practically in didactic lectures and demonstrations.

CLINICAL DENTISTRY.

PROF. ISAAC H. DAVIS, M. D., D.D.S.

Clinical lectures are delivered which are illustrated by the performance of various operations upon patients in the Infirmary.

The Professor of this Chair has daily supervision over all operations performed in the Infirmary, and the methods taught are of such a character that, by attention and diligence, the student may become a good operator at the chair. The subject of ORTHODONTIA includes lectures and demonstrations embracing the etiology, diagnosis and treatment of the irregularities of the teeth by the approved methods for correction.

DEMONSTRATIVE INSTRUCTIONS.

The facilities for securing patients for the students to acquire actual practice under the supervision of the professors and demonstrators are so superior that each student has ample opportunity for gaining practical knowledge and skill in manipulation, thus preparing him to enter with confidence, after graduation, upon the active duties of his profession. The importance of combining theory and practice cannot be overestimated.

THE DENTAL INFIRMARY, in charge of PROF. ISAAC H. DAVIS, affords every facility for practical knowledge in Operative Dentistry, the patients being assigned to the students by the Demonstrators, who are constantly present to give the required information and directions. Every one of the many operating chairs in the Infirmary can be connected with batteries for operating dental electric appliances, such as the electric plugger, electric mouth lamp, etc. Prof. Davis is assisted by a number of experienced Demonstrators.

THE DENTAL LABORATORIES, in charge of Prof. John C. Uhler, are so admirably equipped that they contain all the conveniences for the preparation of metals, the manufacture of teeth and the construction of artificial dentures of every kind. The Demonstrators of this department will always be ready to give the necessary instruction.

Under the teaching of skillful Instructors, the students can acquire a thorough knowledge of METAL, CONTINUOUS GUM, CROWN-AND-BRIDGE-WORK, PORCELAIN WORK AND PLASTIC WORK, the Laboratories being equipped with the latest and most approved furnaces and appliances for such styles of work. Lathes and Dental Engines are operated by electricity and foot-power.

CROWN WORK, BRIDGE WORK AND PORCELAIN WORK.—A complete course of Demonstrations and lectures is conducted by Dr. L. W. Farinholt, on this branch of dentistry.

In the Extracting Room the various general and local anaesthetics are daily administered and applied in the extraction of teeth.

DENTAL TECHNIQS.—Complete courses of Dental Technics are conducted by Dr. J. S. Gieser and Dr. Howard Eastman. Owing to the scarcity of teeth for this course, students are requested to bring with them all the extracted teeth they can.

Students are assigned to seats in the Lecture Halls, and also to Infirmary and Laboratory lockers, in the order in which they matriculate, and each student is required to occupy the assigned seat during the session. Early matriculation secures the most prominent seats and lockers, as well as other advantages.

PRACTICAL ANATOMY.

The Dissecting Room is in charge of Professors and Demonstrators of Anatomy, who superintend and direct the classes in their dissections. The rooms are new, convenient, well warmed, ventilated and lighted. The Demonstrators pass much of their time in assisting the students and in guiding their labors. (Access may be had to the rooms daily.)

HOSPITAL CLINICS.

In addition to the facilities afforded by this institution for a thorough course of instruction in the theory and practice of dentistry, the clinics in the University Hospital enable the Dental equally with the Medical Students to become familiar with the diseases and operations of Practical Surgery; excisions of jaw, of tongue, partial or entire, tumors, cancerous or benign, of various parts of the buccal cavity; plastic operations for the restorations of cheek, lip, antrum disease, etc., may be mentioned as having been before the class during the year. The induction of anesthesia by means of different agents—ether, chloroform, bromide of ethyl, nitrous oxide gas, somnoform, keline, etc., all being used in the clinics—cannot fail to be of use to the students of Oral Surgery.

SUMMARY OF STUDIES.

FIRST YEAR.—Anatomy, Physiology, Dental Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Chemistry, Dental Technics (Operative and Prosthetic), Prosthetic Dentistry (Didactic and Practical), Crown-work, Dissection, and the Extraction of teeth.

SECOND YEAR.—Anatomy, Physiology, Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Chemistry, Dental Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Clinical, Practical, Operative and Prosthetic Dentistry, Principles of Dental Science, Dental Pathology, Dental Histology, Crown-work, Bridge-work, Metallurgy, Porcelain-work.

THIRD YEAR.—Anatomy, Physiology, Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Chemistry, Operative and Prosthetic Dentistry, Clinics, Normal Histology, Bacteriology, Oral Surgery, Orthodontia, Dental Medicine, Dental Jurisprudence, General and Dental Pathology, Histological, Pathological and Bacteriological Laboratory Work, Crown-work, Bridge-work, Porcelain-work, Dental History. Also Practical, Operative and Prosthetic Work.

Freshmen and juniors who fail in their examination for a higher grade will be accorded the privilege of a second examination during the first month of the following regular session. Seniors, under like circumstances, may pass a second examination at the commencement of the ensuing session.

SESSIONS.

Each Collegiate Year consists of two sessions: First, the Winter Session on which alone attendance is obligatory; and Second, Spring and Summer Session.

The WINTER SESSION, 1908-1909, begins October 1st, 1908, and the Commencement exercises are held at the close of each winter session.

The SPRING AND SUMMER SESSION each year begins at the close of the Winter Session and continues until the opening of the next Winter Session. The work of the Spring and Summer Session is altogether practical, no lectures are delivered, but the Dental Students attending this session will have, in addition to practical instruction in Operative and Mechanical Dentistry, the privilege of attending the SURGICAL, MEDICAL AND DAILY BEDSIDE CLINICS of the University Hospital, where a large number of patients are treated.

The many advantages of the Spring and Summer Session for actual practice cannot be overestimated, as the number of patients applying for dental services is always very large, and the Infirmary is never closed except on Sundays.

Students who have no dental experience, and also those First and Second Course Students who desire to avail themselves of the great advantages offered for practical work and instruction, are earnestly advised to attend the Spring and Summer Course. Indeed, every student, if it is possible, should take advantage of such an opportunity for acquiring practical knowledge. This course, however, is not considered as equivalent to a Regular or Winter Course, in the requirements for graduation, and attendance on it is not obligatory, but it affords great opportunity for practical work.

This Dental Department strictly complies with the rules of the National Association of Dental Faculties and the National Association of Dental Examiners. At the May, 1907, examinations of the Maryland State Dental Board of Registration, twenty-two of the graduates of this Dental Department presented themselves, and all passed successfully.

QUALIFICATION FOR ADMISSION.

This University Dental Department is a member of the National Association of Dental Faculties and conforms to all the rules and regulations of that body. Therefore, candidates for entrance will be expected to pass an examination corresponding to that required in a high school of their section of country. A certificate of educational qualification equivalent or superior, to such a course will be accepted as sufficient for admission without examination. A knowledge of Latin or Greek is not required. The preliminary examination, when such is required, is in the hands of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who has appointed Prof. J. H. Elliott, of the Baltimore City College, to make examinations and pass upon certificates for the University of Maryland Dental Department. A matriculate examination is not required of those coming with an intermediate certificate from other recognized dental schools.

According to a resolution passed by the National Association of Dental Faculties, no Dental School can admit students later than the 10TH DAY after opening of the regular session; hence, all students must enter the school WITHIN THE FIRST TEN DAYS OF THE SESSION, in order to be credited with a full session.

In case of sickness, attested by a physician's certificate, a student may enter twenty days after the opening of the winter session.

Graduates of this school are admitted on the matriculation fee only; graduates of other schools on the payment of the matriculation fee and $50 tuition fees.

Graduates of recognized Medical Colleges are admitted to the Junior or Second Year Class, without examination.

Students who enter from other reputable Dental Colleges, will be credited for such studies on which they have passed finally in their former Colleges, except the purely dental studies.

The National Association of Dental Faculties has forbidden all Dental Colleges in this country from granting Scholarships, by the following resolution: "Resolved, That it is the sense of this Association that the method of bestowing Scholarships is no longer called for and is detrimental to the best interests of the profession, and that hereafter no College of this Association shall grant either free or beneficiary Scholarships."

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION.

The candidate for graduation must have attended three full courses of lectures, demonstrations and clinical instruction at the REGULAR OR WINTER SESSIONS in this or other recognized school.

The following, however, will be considered equivalent to an attendance on one or two courses of lectures in this Dental School: One or two courses in any reputable dental school, prior to matriculation in this University.

The candidate for graduation must also present himself for examination upon all subjects composing the Dental Course of Instruction. Prior to such examinations, he must show specimens of operations upon the natural organs performed in the Dental Infirmary of the University, and present an approved specimen of dental mechanism constructed in the Dental Laboratory of the University to be deposited in the University Museum. Candidates for graduation who fail to pass the final Examinations at the end of the year have the privilege of standing a second examination for the degree of D. D. S., in the following fall, without being compelled to attend another session. Candidates failing to graduate are not required to appear for examination in those branches in which they have obtained the required percentage.

The judgment of the Faculty upon the fitness of a candidate is based upon their knowledge of his general attendance and industry, character and habits, as well as upon the results of his final examinations.

The Faculty, however, wish to be distinctly understood that while any student who has complied with the technical requisitions, viz.: Matriculation, attendance upon lectures and clinics, etc., may appear before them for examination, they reserve for themselves and will exercise the right of making moral as well as professional qualifications an element in their decision. Open irregularities of conduct, negligence, habitual and prolonged absence from lectures and neglect or failure to comply with requirements, will always be regarded as obstacles to the attainment of a degree or advancement to a higher grade. Violation of the State Dental Law is strictly forbidden.

Attendance upon the Commencement Exercises is obligatory upon every candidate for graduation.

Fees for Each Regular Winter Course.

The Fees (with the Exception of the Diploma Fee) must be paid as follows: One-half on the entrance day, and the balance during the first week of the succeeding January; this rule must be strictly observed.

Matriculation (paid once only), $5.00. Tuition fee, $150.00. Diploma fee, $30.00. Dissecting fee (paid once only), $10.00. Students who have attended a Session of this, or any other College, prior to 1906-1907, are admitted on the old fees.

(The Diploma fee must be paid by the first of April of the year of graduation.)

A special ticket is issued at the close of each session to every student of the first and second year classes, as an evidence that he has passed successfully, or unsuccessfully, examinations for advancement to a higher grade, and also has attended a full session.

No assessment is made on candidates for graduation, the University bearing all the expenses attending the Commencement Exercises.

Dental students who have attended three full sessions in the University are privileged to attend subsequent sessions on payment of the matriculation fee only.

Tickets for any of the Courses of Study may be taken out separately.

Applicants for admission can send to the Dean at any time between regular sessions the fee of $5.00 in order to secure prominent seats in the Lecture Halls, and also lockers and drawers in the Infirmary and Laboratories.

Fees for the Spring and Summer Courses.

The tuition fee for the Spring and Summer Course is $75, which must be paid by the first of June of each year, or on matriculation if the student enters later; this amount will be deducted from fees of the next following Winter Session.

All tickets for the Dental Department will be issued by the Dean of that Department, at the University Dental Building, or at his office, 845 North Eutaw Street, near Biddle Street, Hamilton Terrace, to whom all dental students are requested to report themselves immediately upon their arrival in Baltimore.

The following works will prove useful to Dental Students:

"Questions and Answers" comprising the entire curriculum of the Dental Student, by Professor Gorgas, will be found useful in the study of text-books, and also a guide for study preparatory to entering college and during the sessions, and for final and State Board Dental Examinations. In one vol., price, $6.00.

The latest (6th) edition of Harris' Dental Dictionary, revised by Professor Gorgas, proves a valuable text book for the dental student, $5.00.

Also Essig's Dental Metallurgy, Mitchell's Dental Chemistry, or Hall's Dental Chemistry and Metallurgy.

The student should have at least one standard work upon each subject taught them in the University.

After the books for the first year are purchased, which will include the first six on the above list, the second and third years will require but three or four more books.

Text-books can be obtained at a discount from retail prices to students of this college from the Agent of the Publishers, at the University of Maryland.

INSTRUMENTS.—Every student is required to furnish his own hand instruments in what are known as "Student Sets," which can be used in after practice. The cost of these "Sets" of instruments will vary accordingly to number and finish; the larger sets with the text-books can be procured for $80.00. A smaller set of instruments can be procured for about $50.00, not including the dental engine. All dental schools now require the students to procure their own dental engines for use in the infirmary. The University furnishes extracting forceps, vulcanizers, electric and foot lathes and other large instruments used in Laboratories.

BOARD in private houses can be obtained at from $3.50 to $4.00 per week according to quality, including lodging, fuel and light; also furnished or unfurnished rooms, without board, at from $6 to $10 per month. By leaving baggage at railway depot until after matriculation, time and expense may be saved, as the student can go from the office of the Dean direct to the College Building on University grounds, northeast corner of Lombard and Greene Streets, where the Janitor will furnish him with a list of comfortable and convenient boarding houses suitable to his means and wishes. The expenses of living are at least as low, if not lower, in Baltimore as in any large city in the United States. Good boarding houses are within easy walking distance of the University.

The personal expenses of students are at least as low in Baltimore as in any large city in the United States. The following estimates of students' personal expenses for the academic year of seven months have been prepared by students, and are based upon actual experiences:

University Hospital,

Southwest Corner Lombard and Greene Streets,
BALTIMORE, MD.

This institution, most pleasantly located, the capacity and comforts of which have undergone great development to meet the increasing demands of patients, is fitted up with all modern conveniences for the successful treatment of Medical and Surgical diseases.

Its Medical Staff comprises the FACULTY OF THE UNIVERSITY, and the entire management of the institution having been delegated to trained nurses, so well known as the faithful and efficient attendants upon the sick, patients may rely upon enjoying the benefits of an Infirmary, as well as the comforts and privacy of a home, while seeking treatment for Medical Diseases and undergoing Surgical Operations.

Special attention is called to the Lying-in Department of the Hospital, and the thorough privacy given to confinement.

When persons are compelled to leave their country residences to seek professional medical assistance in Baltimore, no institution offers greater facilities than the University Hospital, which presents among other greater advantages, that of having six resident physicians, appointed by the Medical Faculty, all of whom are usually (two are always) in the building to carry out the instructions of the Professors.

DEPARTMENT OF ARTS AND SCIENCES.

ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE, ANNAPOLIS, MD.

St. John's College has entered into an affiliation with the Schools of Medicine, Law, Dentistry and Pharmacy of the University of Maryland.

The operation of these working relations is outlined as follows:

First. Seniors in St. John's College may elect twelve requisite hours a week in the Law School of the University. The degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science is conferred upon such students at the end of the year. The Professional Degree may be reached in two years more.

Second. Students who have completed the Junior Year in St. John's College and who have made an approved choice of electives may if they desire it do the entire work of the Senior Year in the Medical School of the University. If they successfully complete the work of the first medical year they are graduated with their class with the degree of A. B. from St. John's College.

By taking advantage of this privilege a man may complete the Undergraduate and Medical courses in seven years.

During three of these years or until he has completed the work of the Junior Class he is a resident student in St. John's College and for four years he is a resident in the Medical School in Baltimore.

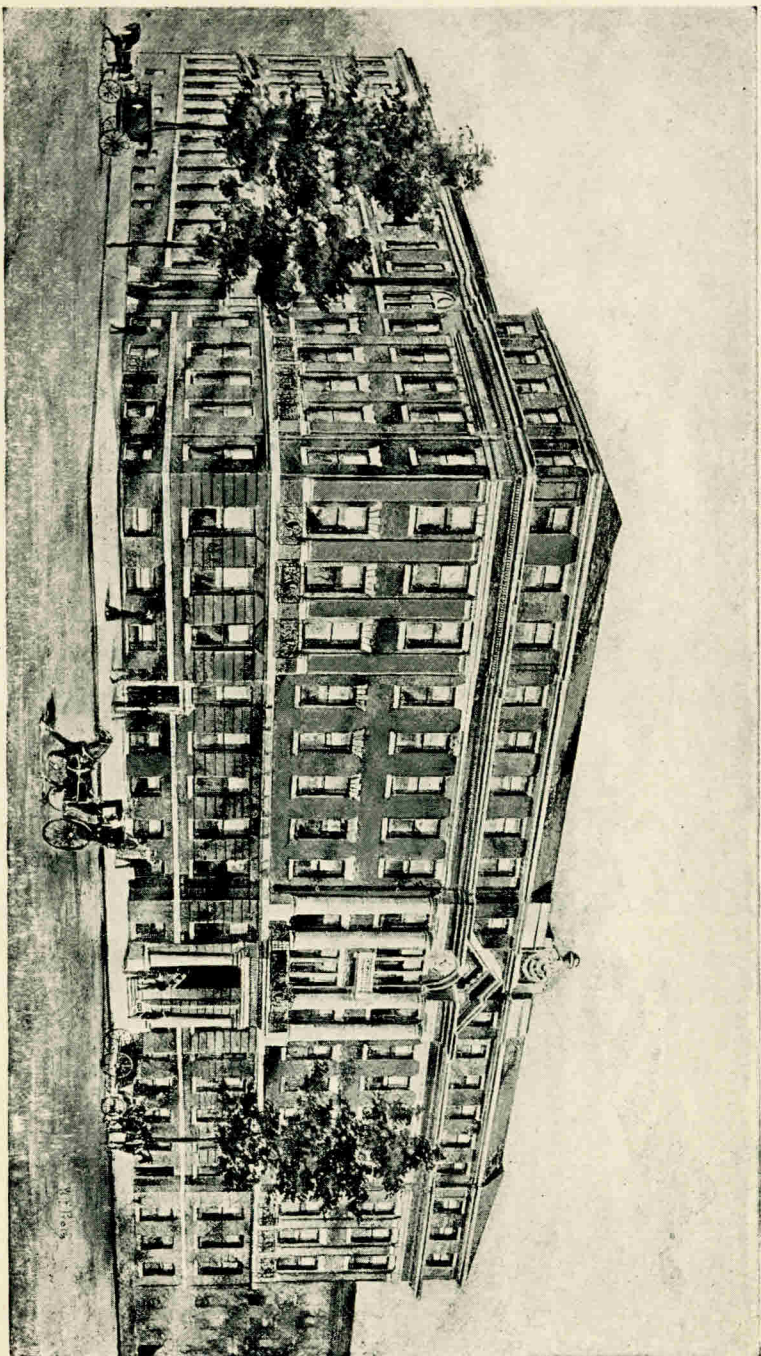

At the end of the fourth year he receives the A. B. degree and at the end of the seven years the M. D. degree, but credit from Medical School cannot be accepted in subjects for which credit has already been given in the College of Liberal Arts.
